Re: Hunters Capital, LLC, et. al. v. City of Seattle, case no. 20-cv-00983-TSZ

Dear Shane and Kristin:

We write to you concerning Michael Malone's text message production. We have been unable to recover any text messages sent or received by Michael Malone from prior to March 26, 2021, either from his iPhone or from any other backup source. Plaintiffs' collection of text messages was taken from Mr. Malone's iPhone on May 3, 2021, but it did not contain any responsive text messages due to the limited date range. We reviewed Mr. Malone's iCloud account, and we located three back-up files on his iCloud account, but none of these backup files contain text messages from before March 26, 2021. Mr. Malone avers that he did not intentionally delete any communications relating to this case, and the City now has copies of communications between Mr. Malone and Mayor Jenny Durkan's personal electronic devices in its possession.

In addition, we have also recently discovered that Mr. Malone's phone that was used by Mr. Malone in June 2020 was stolen on or about June 1, 2021. From June 2020 – approximately March 2021, Mr. Malone had an iPhone 11 that he used for personal and work communications. On approximately May 31, 2021, Mr. Malone lost his iPhone at Hunters, WA. After the loss of his iPhone, Mr. Malone purchased a replacement iPhone, but his replacement iPhone only has text messages on it going back to March 26, 2021.

On June 1, 2021, Mr. Malone's lost iPhone was found by Paul Peterson on a tractor seat in Hunters, WA. On June 1, 2021, the iPhone was shipped to Mr. Malone at the Broadway offices of Hunters Capital via UPS. The UPS delivery driver left the package on the street in front of Hunters Capital's door on Broadway Ave. Before the package could be retrieved by a Hunters' Capital employee, it was stolen from the doorway. Mr. Malone has not been able to recover his stolen iPhone. On July 15, 2021, UPS approved a claim that had been made with respect to the stolen package, and UPS paid Mr. Malone $759.00 to cover the cost of the stolen phone.

Sincerely,
